SENTENCE PASSED

And Two Convicts Will Be Taken to Eddyville.

Commonwealth Business Finished and Civil Matters Now in Order.

Of the three murder cases set for trial Tuesday only one was disposed of. Peter Johnson, colored, who shot and killed Lizzie Weaver, also colored, near Herndon, was tried and acquitted. The proof showed the killing to have been accidental. The cases of Robert Randolph and Jake Williams, both colored, under indictment for murder, were continued until the next term, and the prisoners will remain in jail.

Jas. Gresham, indicted for malicious cutting, entered a plea of guilty to the lesser offense, assault, and was fined $30 and costs.

In the case of the Commonwealth against the Wrought Iron Range Company, charged with having failed to file a statement with the Secretary of state, defendant was fined $100.

Sentence was passed yesterday on Wm. Mackey and Hughey Wagner, both colored, and they will be taken to the Eddyville prison tomorrow or next day. Each got one year for grand larceny.

Peter Johnson, who was acquitted of a murder charge, was fined $25 and sentenced to jail for ten days for carrying a concealed deadly weapon.

The Commonwealth docket has been finished and only civil matters will be tried during the balance of the term. Court will likely adjourn next week.

The suit of P. P. Huffman against the Hopkinsville Water Company for $10,000 damages is now on trial. The plaintiff claims that the water company takes so much water from the West Fork of Little River as to greatly diminish the water supply at mill, which is located on the same stream, about seven miles south of the city. Hence he claims damages as above. The case will be given to the jury to-day.

RINGSTER'S REFLEX.

Amused at the Way the Ring Roasts the Aesent Meacham.

Committee on Campaign Lies Appointed and Now at Work.

It is so hard to keep my records from falling into the hands of the enemy that I am getting almost afraid to write anything at all. It looks like the whole universe is on the fusion side. I am really getting suspicious of some of the men on our own ticket. When everybody is drowning no wonder it is getting to be every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost.

The other night I couldn't help but be amused to hear John Feland and some of the other ring speakers abusing Candler and Meacham. What they say about Polk doesn't seem to have any more effect than pouring water on a duck's back and as for Meacham he has been in Buffalo for a week and probably cares nothing for what people are saying about him 1000 miles away. But the boys are bound to have somebody to roast and they always seem to be easier like after one of these explosions.

A committee on Campaign lies has been appointed and they promise to have a choice lot of new issues ready to circulate the last week of the campaign. I doubt if even lies will save us at that stage of the game.

Paul Moore, of Farlington, was here the other day and when he ran across Otto Anderson said: "Hello! Otto, How's politics? I suppose your ticket is having easy sailing as usual?"

You ought to have seen the expression on Otto's face as he replied:

"Easy, did you say? Well, I should say not. We are for once up against the real thing. The fusionists are making it as hot as hell for us and have bad us on the run for three weeks. I don't know where they came from, but they will either beat us or bust us."

They are telling it on Bob Cook now that he was seen about a week ago to shake hands with Meacham in a barber-shop and if they prove it on him Bob will probably be the hind man in the race. The Ring from end to end seems to have it in for Meacham and they call him everything in the catalogue of names except a fool and a coward. They won't even let upon him when he leaves the state. The confident smile he wears on his face, seems to set them crazy with fearful visions of the future. I'll be glad when it is all over.

The last poll taken shows that the fusionists will carry the four Hopkinsville precincts by 150 majority. Great Caesar's ghost! Is there no way to stop the landslide?

The dismal outlook has had a very depressing effect on the moon-eyed men on the Ring ticket. Even John Prowse is hesitating, although John generally walks up to the lick-log and licks when they tell him. But I am using the wrong figure of speech to illustrate the way they pull John's leg. Licking is altogether too realistic. The very word makes us all trouble at what is to come next month.

PRIVATE SALES

And Prices Remain Same as Quoted Last Week.

Receipts of the week this week were light. Sales amounted to seventy bigheadeds. The quality was of medium grade and the prices were fair, showing to change from last week's quotations.

All of the sales of tobacco made this week were private, and consisted of both lugs and leaf. Lugs ranged from $4.50 to $6.50 and leaf from $5.50 to $10.

The new crop is all in the barn, but buyers have not as yet made many purchases in Christian country. It is estimated that 1,000,000 pounds have already been sold in Robertson county, Tenn.

IDEAL FALL WEATHER

Has Prevailed and Planting Progressed Rapidly.

Another week of ideal fall weather has prevailed, and the work of preparing the soil for the reception of the winter grains and of planting them has been occupying the attention of the farmer, and it is needless to state that the work progressed favorably. More than half the area intended for wheat has been planted, many farmers having delayed sowing through fear of the Hessian fly, which has already appeared in some of the early sowings.

The crop, as a rule, will be put in the ground in better condition than for several years. The acreage will also be large.

THIS AND THAT.

New York lately, New York, pays big dividends for our national and state contests, leaving the rest of the country.

If you wish to have a well-preserved, it must be well-brushed over with the varnish, or the paper will not stick.

It has often been seen at noon with the naked eye quite near the sun. Once when it attracted public attention, Napoleon turned it to advantage, causing it to be rumored that it was his own special star.

None of pepper was known of old. We read that when Rome was to be ransomed from its barbarian conqueror in the year 406, Alaric demanded 3,000 pounds of pepper among the payments, and that Hippocrates used it in medicine, applying it to the skin.

In 1800, throughout the United States, the seasons numbered 857,577, Knights of Pythias 692,506, odd fellows 662,729, Masons 205,628, Improved Order of Red Men 236,702, Hesperians 55,668, Macabees 227,936, Ancient Order of Foresters 38,363. These are all secret orders.

It is calculated that more ground may be got over at a lively party or ball than in a game of golf. It is stated that in many a single waltz, kept up, as some of them are, for a long while, as much as a mile may be gone over. An ordinary square dance calls for a quarter to a half mile of moving about.

Bennett, Tex., is noted not only for its oil, but the tall-tail telegraph poles in the United States. The tops are 150 feet above the ground. They were erected in the opposite banks of the Neches river by the Western Union Telegraph company in order to string its cable across the stream. The span is 141 feet in length. This height is necessary to admit the passage of ships through a drawbridge, their masts being 100 feet tall and more.

IGNORANCE NOT BLISS.

Case of the Girl Who Was Invited Out to Dinner.

"When a man takes a girl out to dinner," said the frivolous maid, "it would certainly simplify matters greatly if he would announce before-hand just how much he expects to spend for one's entertainment. Only last week a young man from New York, who is visiting in Baltimore, and whom I know but slightly, asked Louise, Aunt Effie and me to take dinner with him at one of the hotels. 'He doesn't look especially opulent, and I never heard that he was rich,' so all three of us guests, with feminine precipitation, instantly jumped to the conclusion that he had to struggle to keep the wolf from the door and ordered accordingly. I was fearfully hungry, but I took all the reasonable things on the menu, the scrappy things I really didn't care much about, and put away from me the more expensive viands as out of the question.

Louise and Aunt Effie did the same, so poor Mr. Blank nearly had a fit in his rage at what he called our horrid appetites. When I came home for that night I still had a desire for his pocket-book. I had the legs as well as the head, but when I went to him dinner to that swell hotel is a mere laugh.

"Well, I haven't regretted my visit," said the frivolous maid, "and perhaps I haven't suffered over the debacles that I did not come on this fatal night, but I have nothing to regret in the future. I'll just frankly ask the man who invites me to dine with him, what his circumstances are, and accordingly, that's what I will do." And the frivolous maid nodded her head quite as if she really meant it.

Bird's Nest in Apartments.

A bird's nest built on the apartment house pinn is a curiosity in Franklin square. Two families of robins occupy the nest, which is snugly built on a branch on the limb of a popular tree. The old birds are rearing families to sit in the old nest, with no sign of domestic discord. The nest is much larger than the usual size constructed by the birds, and is divided into two sections by a portion of twigs lined with feathers. In one apartment there are three young robins and in the other four constituents of the Philadelphia Record.

WORSE THAN A MOUSE.

Has Created Panic Among Women in Small Boat.

A most unusual incident occurred to a party of women who visited the Orleans life-saving station, says the Boston Globe. Serious consequences were narrowly averted through the skill of Capt. Linnell in keeping his boat right side up, but since the affair ended without injury to anyone, only the comical side is now referred to by any of the participants.

Capt. Dean S. Linnell took a party of a dozen women in a flat-bottom rowboat from Barley Neck across Meeting House pond to the life-saving station to witness a boat and gun drill. In the party were Mrs. Linnell, Mrs. Shackley and Mrs. Sturtevant, who reside in that locality during the hot weather, accompanied by a number of summer girls boarding there, a dozen or more in all, filling the boat to its capacity.

On the return trip across the pond, just as Capt. Linnell was rowing the boat out of the eel grass, an eel jumped out of the water and landed in the bottom of the boat. The scene that immediately followed is indescribable. The traditional mouse never caused so great a panic among wearers of petticoats as did this slippery eel. In this instance there were no tables or chairs for the women to climb upon, and, while Capt. Linnell would not allow them to stand upon his head or shoulders, he found it impossible to keep them from jumping up and down on the thwart and nearly falling over each other.

Indeed, the jolly skipper, who now had become decidedly serious, had all he could do to prevent some of his passengers from jumping into the pond. One of them fainted and two others became hysterical, and it was all the level-headed ones could do to keep the boat from capsizing and throwing the whole party overboard.

A dozen hands were grabbing at the greasy, wriggling little eel and trying to get the cause of all the mischief overboard. The slippery thing went through everybody's fingers, until at last Mrs. Sturtevant succeeded in clutching it with a viselike grip between forefinger and thumb, and, though it promptly twisted upward her wrist, she at length shook it off into its native element.

Capt. Linnell was then able to break away and emerge from the mass of femininity with which he had been enveloped, and after a time reached the shore, where the girl who had fainted was resuscitated and the hysterical ones restored to their normal condition.

Through the accident thus fortunately ended, it was an extremely narrow escape from drowning for the party, as the boat was on the verge of capsizing several times.

THE BARRACOON AFRICA.

Nege Slaves as They Pass from Rader to Dealer.

When the difficulties of the forced marchers are surmounted and the captured slaves brought to the headquarters of the invalid king they are stored till they can be divided among their captors—many to the king, so many to his captains, so many to prize officers. It may be some days before anything can be settled; meanwhile the slaves are examined altogether into the smallest possible pieces, probably packed up and not allowed to move out of their prison house for any purpose whatsoever. During this time the strongest of the slaves are flogged. They are powerless to help whatever may be done to the others who are their fellow townsmen, friends, or, it may even be, members of their own family. And nothing succeeds like success. It is results that tell.

What the invalid wants is to get well. He is not so much interested in the name of the school of healing to which his doctor belongs as he is in the fact that he can do what he claims to do. It is by this standard that osteopathy asks to be judged. While the claim is not made for it that it is a cure-all for it has eliminated death from the world, yet the fact remains that it has brought health and vigor to the body and cheer to the heart of many an invalid from whom all hope had vanished.

These are but a few of the reasons why Osteopathy has firmly, loyal friends wherever it has been introduced by competent and conscientious Osteopaths. If you are sick and suffering try Osteopathy. If you desire the most profitable profession try Osteopathy. For free literature address the Southern School of OSTEOPATHY, (Incorporated) Franklin, Ky.

Why Osteopathy is Popular.

It is a fact that the Osteopath in a few weeks or months obtains a standing with the best people in his community that it would take a physician years to acquire.

The reasons for this are many and obvious. In the first place, the theory of the science of osteopathy is a rational and common sense one. There is nothing vague, mysterious, or occult about it, but being based upon the laws of nature it commands itself to the unprepared and thinking mind.

Another thing that tends to popularize it is the plain and reasonable system of charges usually adopted by the osteopath—a system whereby the patient is enabled to tell approximately what it is going to cost him to regain his health. The treatment is undertaken with the knowledge that there will be no bill for medicine, extra visits, etc., at the final reckoning.

Almost everybody dislikes to take medicine. There is hardly an adult to be found who has not many times been depressed and sickened by heroic doses of drugs, and as the Irishman expressed it, "felt sick a long time after he got done." If osteopathy did nothing but abolish experimental doses of poisonous drugs and curtail the number of surgical operations, it would be worthy of the gratitude of countless sufferers.

And finally, osteopathy has loyal defenders and warm adherents among all classes because of results attained by its practitioners. "Nothing succeeds like success."

It is results that tell.

What the invalid wants is to get well. He is not so much interested in the name of the school of healing to which his doctor belongs as he is in the fact that he can do what he claims to do. It is by this standard that osteopathy asks to be judged. While the claim is not made for it that it is a cure-all for it has eliminated death from the world, yet the fact remains that it has brought health and vigor to the body and cheer to the heart of many an invalid from whom all hope had vanished.

These are but a few of the reasons why Osteopathy has firmly, loyal friends wherever it has been introduced by competent and conscientious Osteopaths. If you are sick and suffering try Osteopathy. If you desire the most profitable profession try Osteopathy. For free literature address the Southern School of OSTEOPATHY, (Incorporated) Franklin, Ky.

THE SLAVE TRAFFIC.

Selling Girls in Northern Negroes—An Englishman's Experience.

Business connected with the sale of some silver led me one day to the house of a slave dealer who had some 12 or 14 very engaging young females to dispose of, says a writer in the Empire Magazine. Entering the house through the heavy-pillared, low, be-matted room, I found myself, when my eyes had grown accustomed to the subdued light and the fleecy smoke of the burning spires, in a large, square, half-shaped room. The young women were squatting about on skin and mats doing one another's hair, touching up one another's eyes with kohl (black antimony powder), laughing, talking, singing, and to all appearances thoroughly enjoying themselves, notwithstanding that they had only recently been torn from the bosoms of their families. When the dealer had looked at the silver I brought with me he directed my attention to his stock, and, after a few observations relative to their place of origin, called up two or three of the girls and tried to push business, expatiating upon their points just as a horse dealer might do in this country. One was cunning in the preparation of the perfumes of the country, in the blending of civet and frankincense and myrrh, just the wife for a wealthy Ba Ture (white man) like me. Another could sing and dance; all were clean and well favored. After listening to the dealer for some time, I told him very plainly that I did not require a female slave. "Ah," he replied, "then I know what you want, and have just the article to suit you." And a girl, half Arab, half Sudan, was immediately produced from a different room. The dealer was sure she would suit me—he was aching to get that silver without paying currency for it—he would let me have her cheap; she wasn't everybody's money. "Not she is not," I readily admitted, adding rather more forcibly, "she isn't mine, for instance."

A Strange Flower.

A strange flower has been borne by a

Malmaison rose bush growing in a garden at Violet Hill, Stowmarket,

England. The bush was close to an apple tree, and on one of the largest stalks were seen growing in the center. As the petals of the rose developed the apple blossoms opened, the him waving a sword and shouting

"Is it a good picture?" he was asked.

"Yes—er," he replied, "it's all right, except that my sword is still wrapped up in a bundle in Tampa, and I didn't ride a horse. Otherwisit's allright!"

THE STREET-CAR CONDUCTOR.

Handling of Nickels and Dimes Has Some Delicate Points.

"That man will not last long as a street car conductor," said the observer. "Strange," said his neighbor, "for I was just thinking what a remarkably good-looking fellow he was, quite above the average in intelligence. What do you see wrong in him?" "Simply that he lacks the fundamental qualification for the position; he is not a harmonizer, and, I am afraid, he is lazy, for he yielded to a petty temptation. See those two gentlemen seated on opposite sides of the aisle in the front seats? I happen to know those men are violent personal enemies, and have not spoken to one another for years. When the conductor went to collect their fares one was holding a nickel in his hand, the other a dime. The carman gathered in the coins, crossed his right arm over and gave the nickel as charge to the man with the dime. The coin was still hot from the hand of his enemy, and I saw the blood rise to the man's cheek, and I believe he would have broken loose if he had been sure whether to throw the money in the face of the railroad man or the hated passenger. He fingered the nickel as if it were infected and finally dropped it into his outside coat pocket to cool off. Now, of course, the conductor was not supposed to know the enemies of all the passengers he collected from, but an experienced carman would never lay his hand on a coin that had been held for several minutes in the hand, and it is a cardinal principle in 'street railroading' that each piece shall be passed through the purifying money pouch on its way from passenger to passenger. I saw a curious violation of the rule the other day, when a pretty girl gave a nickel to a new conductor, who passed it across to a dude opposite. The man at once poked out that the coin was no good and entered into a violent altercation, which ended in the young lady ringing the bell and leaving the car, although only half way home." —N. Y. Times Democrat.

HAD TO BE IDENTIFIED.

Old Gentleman Was Over-Fascinated and Not Very Grateful.

Frank McKee had drawn some currency from the box office of the Madison Square theater to pay extra expenses on a trip to New England the other afternoon. He was standing in front of the theater waiting for a carriage when a very old but most respectable-looking man came up to him and said:

"Young man, can you tell me where I might get a $500 bill changed at this time of day?"

McKee looked the old gentleman over, and, being satisfied with the result, he thought he could change it for him. The old man produced the $500 bill, and McKee counted out $50 in $50, $20 and ten-dollar bills, and handed them to the owner of the $500. The latter, however, without taking the money, said:

"Pardon me, but is there anyone honor that you will change it?"

SUGAR STATISTICS

Relative to Country's Consumption—Cuban Crop Quotations.

As a good deal has recently appeared in print regarding the consumption of sugar in this country, the various sources from which it is obtained, the amount of duty paid thereon, etc., the following facts and figures furnished by Willett & Gray, sugar statisticians, of New York, will be found of interest:

"The total consumption of sugar in the United States last year was 2,210,847 tons and based on the average increase of 6.34 per cent, during the past 19 years, the consumption this year should be 2,360,585 tons. Of this quantity 1,000,000 tons in round figures will come from American sources, say Louisiana being able to produce 450,000 tons. United States beet factories, 150,000, Hawaii, 350,000 and Porto Rico 150,000, all being free of duty, leaving 1,065,585 to come from other sources and on which duty is paid. The average price assessed is $36 per ton, or a total of $48,981,060. The price of all the sugar consumed, however, being enhanced to the extent of $36 per ton or a total of $84,981,606, it is evident that $36,000,000 additional is paid by the people in order to provide the Government with 49 millions for revenue, of which the Government is not now in need. If the duty is taken off Cuban sugar, the benefit of 85 millions goes to the people."

"On October 8th, the quotation for Cuban Sugar, 96% duty free, per lb., on New York market, was 1.98c per lb., equivalent to 86 per cent ad valorem."

ON OCTOBER 28

Assassin of McKinley Will Probably Be Put to Death.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 22—Warden Meade, of Auburn Prison, spent several hours to-day in conference with Superintendent of State Prisons Cornelius V. Collins, arranging the details for carrying out the sentence of death imposed on Leon F. Czolgosz, the murderer of President McKinley. But 26 witnesses will be admitted. The prison physicians will be assisted in the conducting of the autopsy by Dr. Carlos F. Macdonald, former President of the State Commission in Lunacy, and one of the greatest experts on insanity in the country. It is believed that the execution will take place October 28, or if everything is not got ready on that day a similar hour on the 29th.

One half the world would read patent medicine testimonials if it were anxious to know how the half lives.

AFTER POWERS

Trial Decision in Requisition Cases Will be Announced.

Judinapolis, Ind., Oct. 22.—It is not likely that Governor Durbin will announce his decision in the requisition of Governor Beckman, of Kentucky, for the extradition of Messrs. Taylor and Finley until after the trial of Caleb Powers, now on trial at Georgetown, Ky. It is generally understood about the Statehouse that the Governor only consented out of courtesy to the Kentuckians who presented the requisition to carefully investigate the records, and he has already read enough to convince him that he should not honor the requisition.

TRAFFIC DELAYED.

Several Cars Derailed Near Baker's Hill, Tenn.

A derailed freight train delayed traffic on the L. & N. road five or six hours Wednesday morning. One of the cars in a northbound freight broke down at the foot of Baker's Hill and jumped the track, causing three or four others to be knocked off. The roadbed was damaged for a considerable distance and traffic was delayed until a crew could be sent to the scene, the wreckage removed and the track repaired. The wreck occurred about 8 o'clock.

A transfer train was sent out to the scene from Nashville and passengers were taken to that place. Nobody was hurt in the wreck, and no other damage was done other than to the derailed cars and track.

The mail due here at 9:40 a.m. did not arrive until about 2 p.m.

"Right Up-To-Date"

is an expression that has been used in many ways and by a great number of people. In some cases it was deserved, in others far from it. In making use of the above appellation and applying it to the Grace Rentfrow Stock Co., you can rest assured that the expression is not misplaced. The company is backed by both brains and capital, and composed of the best dramatic and vaudeville people in the profession today. With especially selected plays, scenery and accessories it comes prepared to make good all these assertions. Next Monday night it will commence a week's engagement at Holland's Opera House. Additional Rooms for Arcadia Hotel at Dawson Springs.

Mr. N. M. Holman, of the Arcadia Hotel at Dawson Springs, informs the KENTUCKIAN that he will, early in the spring, enlarge his already commodious house. By this addition to the building many more guests can be accommodated. The Arcadia Hotel always enjoys a most liberal patronage, in fact its rooms are filled throughout the summer season, and many who go to Dawson to drink the mineral waters the year round make this popular hostelry their home during their stay. Last season's business was the largest ever enjoyed by the Arcadia management and with additional room their business will largely increase next season.

Mr. and Mrs. Holman will go to California early in December, but they will return in the spring.

The New President—A Prayer.

The following poem, by Clinton Dangler, is reproduced, by permission, from advance sheets of the November Century.

Not for the silent chief whom Death

Gently and sedulously keeps Within a splendid calm; naught mars

His well-won laurels where he sleeps.

Rather for him who newly stands Half startled on a slippery height,

Like a strong falcon which some hand

Unheded rudely, whom the light

Floods unforeseen, but who shall prove

A wide-winged strength! For him we pray:

Give him such wisdom swift and keen

He shall restore us Yesterday—

YOUNG THINKER.

Why They Sleep.

A Missouri editor who had printed a country newspaper for many years, took a walk through a graveyard, and as he returned home he wrote down some interesting observations.

He said: Take a walk through a cemetery alone and you will pass the last resting place of a man who blew into the muzzle of a gun to see if it was loaded. A little further down in the slope is a crank who tried to see how close to a moving train he could pass. In moving along you will see the monument of the girl who tried to start a fire with kerosene, and a grass covered knoll that covers the boy that put a cub under the mule's tail. That tail shaft over the man who blew out the gas, casts a shadow across the grave of a boy who tried to jump on a moving train.

Side by side the ethereal creature who always had her corset laced to the last notch and the intelligent idiot who rode a bicycle nine miles in ten minutes, sleep on undisturbed. At repose is a doctor who took a dose of his own medicine. There with a top of a show box driven over his head is the old man who married a young wife.

Away over there reposes the boy who was a common quail—it only gives a chance. If it is a question of meat, neighbor, kill a chicken, duck, turkey, goose—anything but peacocks, until they get cheaper. They cost from four to five dollars a pair now, and the luxury comes high—to the OTHER FELLO.

EXCITING RACES.

Four Prizes Awarded to as Many Victors.

The bicycle road races Tuesday afternoon were witnessed by a large crowd. The start was made in front of Dr. Jno. A. Gunn's residence, on South Virginia, and the distance for the first race was five miles.

Charles Canister won this race, with Chas. H. Nash, Jr., a close second. First prize, a loving cup; second, set of boxing gloves; third, 15¢ minutes.

The second race of three miles was won by Gill Edwards. Time 10 1/2 minutes. Jas. Forbes won second prize in this race. First prize, striking bag; second, regulation foot ball.

All of the contestants were amateurs, none of them ever having competed for prizes before.

SHOT BY FARMER.

Ring Neck Pheasant Killed Out of Season.

Open Season Between November 15 and January 1—Penalty for Violation of Game Law.

(COMMUNICATED BY "SPORTSMAN.")

A ring neck cock pheasant was shot by a farmer in the southern part of the county a few days ago. He gave as his reason for doing so that it was something new and he wanted to see what it was.

He has the information now, but the question is, ought he not to be willing to pay for it?

The law, in such cases made and provided, is as follows.

Sec. 6. "No person shall catch or kill or pursue with such intent, or have the same in possession after it has been caught or killed, any quail, partridge or pheasant, between the first day of January and the 15th day of November in each year."

The fine for violating the law is not less than $5 nor more than $25.

He doubtless thought nothing of the law at the time and did not intend to violate it, but does that excuse him?

He did know that he was to be here for him a strange and beautiful bird that was seeking shelter and companionship among his domestic fowls and that, on general principles, had a right to its life.

He also knew, or ought to have known, if he thought at all, that it was not a native of this country and that some one else had probably brought it here, and that it was therefore not his. He might also have reflected that this one probably had a mate some where close by, and, if let alone, might rear a family and be the means of stocking the county with these attractive and useful birds.

The truth is, that several public spirited citizens, at their own personal expense, brought pheasants here from other states and have been raising them several years. They liberated some of them this year on the farm of C. F. Garrett, G. L. Campbell and others, and one referred to doubtless wandered out of those particular sections, as they are great rangers and hunt localities suited to their tastes.

Let the people take notice, therefore, that they are not expected to murder them on sight—at least until they have time to increase. They will become as numerous after a while as our common quail—it only gives a chance. If it is a question of meat, neighbor, kill a chicken, duck, turkey, goose—anything but peacocks, until they get cheaper. They cost from four to five dollars a pair now, and the luxury comes high—to the OTHER FELLO.

A PROMINENT LADY

Speaks in Highest Terms of Peruva as a Catarrh Cure.

Mr. M. A. Theatro, member Rebecc Lodge, Iola Lodge; also member of Woman's Relief Corps, writes the following letter from 1838 Jackson street, Minneapolis, Minn.:

Mrs. M. A. Theatro, Minneapolis, Minn.

Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.

Gentlemen:—As a remedy for catarrh I can cheerfully recommend Peruna. I have been troubled with chronic catarrh for over six years. I had tried several remedies, but nothing would do. I was advised to try Peruna, and I began to eat it faithfully before each meal. Since then I have always kept it in the house.

I am now in better health than I have been in over twenty years, and I feel sure my catarrh is permanently cured.

Peruna is a good medicine. I eat it as soon as I get up in the morning. As soon as Peruna removes catarrh the digestion becomes good, nerves strong, and trouble vanishes. Peruna strengthens weak nerves, not by temporarily stimulating them, but by removing the cause of weak nerves. It only cures that lasts. Remove the cause; nature will do the rest. Peruna removes the cause. Address The Peruna Medicine Company, Columbus, Ohio, for a book treating of catarrh in its different phases and stages, also a book entitled "Health and Beauty," written especially for women.

NEW PORTO RICAN SEAL.

Modeled After Old Spanish Coat-of-Arms, But Supplied with a New Motto.

Porto Rico has received to mark its adoption as a colony of the United States by the adoption of a seal. To that end a committee was appointed, including the governor and secretary of the island, who in turn appealed for advice and aid to Mr. Gaillard Hunt, author of the "History of Porto Rico and the United States," and author of the historical monograph on the subject. The old seal of Porto Rico, granted by Spain about the middle of the sixteenth century, presented three leading features: A rock in the ocean, the lamb of St. John and designs of the Spanish flag and castle. The committee wished to retain as much as possible the traditional representation, but compelled in last to do most of it. The shape of the shield, however, was retained, and also the rock, after being remodeled as to copy, with some exaggeration, the contour of the island as it appears to the voyager before entering the harbor of San Juan, and the rock is shown the rising sun.

The choice of a crest, says World's Work, presented the next difficulty. No heraldic animal was suggested as being a popular local signifier, so the committee, after much thought, decided on last to do most of it. The shape of the shield, however, was retained, and also the rock, after being remodeled as to copy, with some exaggeration, the contour of the island as it appears to the voyager before entering the harbor of San Juan, and the rock is shown the rising sun.

"I'll do what I can," I said, and as the doctor happened to be passing I called him over and put the matter before him.

"Nonsense!" he exclaimed. "Just look at him. Is he fit—now, is he? Look at that face, will you—red and flushed with fever. He's in no condition to get out."

"The boy had gradually raised himself eagerly on to his elbow, as the doctor finished speaking his head fell back hopelessly."

"Fever! Red!" he cried, querulously, "I pant, doctor! It's just to tell you!" I told you?"

"Have by some surgeon Shylock on thy charge to stop his wounds lest he do bleed to death."

People can bleed to death. The loss of blood weakens the body. It must follow that gain of blood gives the body strength. The strengthening effect of Dr. Pierce's Golden

Discovery is in large part due to its action on the blood-making glands and the increased supply of pure, rich blood it produces. It is only when the blood is impoverished and impure that disease finds a soil in which to root.

"The Discovery" purifies the blood and makes it antagonistic to disease.

When the body is emaciated, the lungs are weak, and there is obstinate lingering cough.

"Golden Medical Discovery" puts the body on a fighting foot against disease, and so increases the vitality that disease is thrown off, and physical health perfectly and permanently restored. It has cured thousands who were hopeless and helpless, and who had tried all other means of cure without avail.

ATTORNEY PIT DEAD.

Had Been Sufferer From Consumption For Long Time.

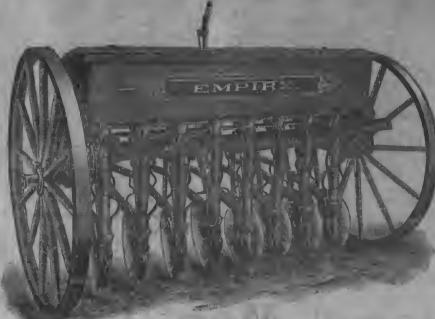

Attorney G. L. Pitt, of Clarksville, died Wednesday, of consumption, from which he had for a long time been a sufferer. He was about 40 years old and is survived by a widow, who was Miss Sammie Wall of Trigg county, and one little daughter.

In 1891 Mr. Pitt was appointed Attorney General and at the regular election was elected for a full term. He also served as Public Administrator for some time.

The interment took place near Hampton, Tenn., yesterday.

Can You Afford To?

Can you afford to experiment with unknown and untried brands of Fertilizers, when you can get right here what you know to be good? Soils are of great variety, what suits your farm may not be adapted to your neighbor's. Experimenting may mean the loss of a crop, as well as the amount invested in Fertilizers. Every farmer knows Armour and Homestead, Eagle and Ox'Brand Fertilizers. They are no experiment. It's Time to Put in Your Order Now if you want it to come forward with shipments for early fall seeding.
